FROM THE DESKOF THE PRESIDENT Bill K2NJ Did I have a vision of the future?

Two months ago I did a spoof about computer control of your radio and making the contacts for you... Little did I know of the QSO I would have a week or two ago on 15 meters PSK31.

I was working European stations – canned QSO's – Name, QTH, RST, QSL Sure yada yada... when I worked an Italian station who said he was remote controlling his radio. This had me sit back and we chatted a bit. It seems he was a Dentist and had his station at his home on top of the mountain, but he spent most of the day in his office in the valley and could never make good HF contacts during some idle time between patients. So he put a UHF link in between his house and his office... I was working him on 15m and he was working from his home to his office on 432. Neat eh...

Then this not that unusual, because when I had my hernia operation a bunch of years ago I would not be able to come up and down the steps to the shack easily – I took the Baby Room Monitor up with me... and laid the microphone (of my HF rig) on top of my 2 meter radio (facing down with the speaker facing up) with the VOX turned on. I had it on an unusual frequency and was using PL tone – and an alligator clip for an antenna (so it only worked locally).I would then listen on the BRM (baby room monitor) and if I needed something I would turn on the HT and call the /Mobile on 2M... transposed to 14.336 in my shack... I remember once working Dennis KK7X this way when I was out back laying in the sunshine on my lounge chair... he got a kick out of it...

Well, I am a member of the MixW Users Group on Yahoo (digital modes) – this is where we discuss aspects of the program, and recommend changes, updates, fixes... etc... When one of the developers said that he is working on a remote control possibility of the program – where from what I understand – it can be controlled remotely from the internet. (OK, by now I bet you are wondering where am I going with this?)

I got thinking (as only my sick mind can) of my article about the future... and now I have the ultimate angle on DXpeditions. You take your laptop and interface it to your portable radio. Team this up with a power supply and a hunk of Coax and a multi band vertical antenna... box it all up and ship it to the DX site you want to operate from. You set up ahead of time with the head of some hotel, motel, gas station, doctors office, whatever.. to accept the package and set it up in an unused room... hook it up to power and put the antenna somewhere that it will work. And to hook your laptop up to the internet – you now just have to telnet between the two points (your Home PC and the Laptop that only you know the IP address)... now you go to your PC – in the comfort of your home and operate on an extended DXpedition any time you want... for as long as you want... go to work the next day... come home – make a few hundred Q's and go to bed... what a life.

Would this count? I mean the RF is coming from Point X... somewhere rare. Imagine having a remote station setup in Kalawao County HI... Not so rare anymore is it? Or the Second District of Alaska... Or even in rare Washington DC and count for nothing...

Think about it... Because I guarantee that someone will do this in the very near future... and then we must let our bureaucrats and lawyers at the League fight over if it was real or not... Imagine this one up on stilts above the high-tide line shades of something tori-shima would work.. hi hi..

Change of Subject.

I have had the most wonderful surprise by Skip WA0WOB who sent me some OLD MARAC convention pictures... like the ones from Mountain Home... and the first ICHN in Peoria IL... Real neat... I will be getting these to Roger in the near future (next time I head down that way) and he said he would make some room in the RR for copies of them – Gads, the men had hair then.... And it was dark... and all wore ties.. and there was a picture of me when I was 20 something at W2KXL's mini in one of the CQ' mags he sent me... I was there with a good friend K3UEI who is now SK...only picture I have of the two of us. Thanks Skip, I treasure it more than you know.

I am looking again at what I hoped to accomplish this year on my antenna farm... Well, like most of you – I didn't get much done that I wanted. BUT this year I have a great excuse. We have had problems with our septic system. I contracted with a guy to come in (last spring) and not only fix the system but to put French Drains under most of my back yard. I have about an acre and half out back that gently slopes to the back... The problem being that under the six or so inches of soil is hard packed clay... NOTHING Drains... the dog piddles out there and it stays in a small lake.. He walked the yard with me telling me what he had to do with the septic and said he would also put this drain field in the yard and we could actually get in the yard before August every year (when it turns into a dust bowl every year but this one)... Problem is – he could not get in the yard this year with his machinery because he would have lost it in the mudddddd... we had three times the normal rainfall. So I have had to put off any antenna work until after he digs up the entire yard (he would take out all wire antennas with the machine)... but the good news is that once he has the stuff stripped back I can lay some radials out and he will bury them all ... wow 160 meter ground plane? Hmmmmm!

FLASH.. He came over today and will be here on Monday... Just think Ma.. Flush toilets again...

Needless to say, its is frustrating not having the third tower up that I wanted – with a second tribander on it... nor do I have my wire yagi on 80 and 40... or my beverages or nothing... so like they say... wait till next year.

I am writing this in mid January... I hope that you all had a wonderful holiday season. Mine was wonderful – I had a super surprise where two days after Christmas I was on the phone with Jim VE9DH and he said he was thinking of coming down for a few days... then three days later they were here... Nice to have friends over on New Years... What party animals we are... we sat up in the living room, drinking wine (he makes some great stuff and brought it with him)... by 11PM 3 out of the 5 of us were out... at 11:55 Jim and I woke the wives (and our friend Mary, widow of my best friend K3UEI was over) we all toasted the new year... watched the ball come down and by 12:05 all were heading to our rooms... It doesn't get much better than this... (when did we get old???) Then we went out and did some mobile operating on Friday... This is the first time I have ever seen a GPS unit hooked up to a Lap Top in operation... NEAT... Gail and I will be ordering ours soon as we cal...

Stay warm the rest of the winter... Get ready to run stuff this summer... Both Jim and I are making plans to get to Texas for the convention and running all kinds of stuff both ways, with out new GPS – never to be confused with N4UJK unit again... Happy 2K4 Bill K2NJ

ALOHA HAWAII ! by KS5A and KD7TOL

Following our October, 2003, Hawaiian operations, several county hunters asked about our trip or indicated they wished to see something published in the Roadrunner. I write this to reveal a few aspects of a really, great vacation as well as from the ham's perspective - the planning, coordination and mobile operations from four islands and five counties.

BACKGROUND

Why Hawaii and why the dates that we were there?

The why Hawaii part is easy; there is not one good reason not to go! If one only gets to one island/county or even a visit without a radio, don't pass up the opportunity.

With the dates of our trip, I was in a quandary. The 3M convention is approaching; darn it, we'll miss it. There is no way to do both – Hawaii and 3M. Propagation is not the best these days; we could wait a few more years. But, I'm too old now to learn how to ride a surfboard. Plus, today, I can still see those out there on the surfboards and those getting help with the suntan lotion on their backs! Don't they know I was a Boy Scout? I can check this out from the shade of a palm canopy with that little pink umbrella in my glass. In a few more years, I may need help just to get under the palms! This tells me to go now.

OK...OK....I know you can see through these lame excuses. You got me.... The bottom line, reason why we went and when we did.....I screwed up! In my job (the airline business), I must put in for vacation the year before I intend to take it. I put in for a week that I thought would correspond to KM4W's fabulous 3M convention. My week was too early by one. So, all of you that worked me for a needed Hawaiian county, thank Bill, for not holding the 3M during my vacation! Yeah, right, Guff!

Linda (the better half) has been after me for years to go to the islands. All I had to look forward to during that ill placed vacation was work around the house — Yuk! Why not surprise her with a trip to the islands and talk radios a little later? Following 9/11, air travel and the tourist resorts took a big hit, and only now, are starting a slow recovery. Maybe I could still make this trip happen with only a couple of weeks warning.

So, this trip was put together in minimum time. That's why there was not much notice on the Forums. I say that, not to garner bragging rights, but more of a warning. Remember, my business is moving around in airplanes and airports. I stay in hotels two or three nights a week. Rental car companies like me. It's nothing for me to plan to go to Miami and be told that has changed, and now I need to go to Calgary with two hours notice. But, that's work, and this is supposed to be a vacation .... (with radios).....

Therefore, if one is not prepared for a trip of this distance with the numerous changes in locations, one can almost forget about the vacation part. Plan on spending most of your time and money attempting to coordinate hotels, rental cars, airline flights and replace missing equipment. Forget electronic stores, Radio Shacks and the like, for the missing equipment. If anything, you will be lucky to find a hardware store in any place other than Honolulu. Going to use your cell phone, hotel phone, computer on the internet to do those things you should have accomplished before you left the home shack? Take a couple extra "C Notes". Roaming charges and hotel communications are not free. I can't emphasize enough to PLAN AHEAD so to enjoy the trip.

As plans started to come together it was time to spring the deal with the better half - "it would be a vacation to all the islands (uuuh, ...counties...) if I can take the radio with us! ..... pretty please"?

THE PLANNING

I must remember, the vacation part takes precedence. The idea is to visit as many counties/vacation spots as possible, hopefully all five, sightsee and have fun. We live in the Phoenix area, and luckily, Hawaiian Airlines has daily, non-stops to Honolulu. If they have seats on the days I start vacation, we are at least, in one county.

The remainder will depend on hotel availability. I check with the airline, and they have open seats....we're in there! Make the flight reservations first. Post a message on the Forums about rumors of all Hawaiian counties coming up. Surely, Linda can handle an overnight in the rental car if we can't find a hotel on some of the islands! We can still have fun....for goodness sakes, it's a vacation!

Let's see, I get home from a business trip one day and leave for Hawaii on the next. Can I be ready to leave in less than one day? You bet I can. Over the years I've developed a checklist for leaving town on a mobile trip. It even has items that I may not need to take or do. I take the list on each trip and add to it when we forget something. I asked other county hunters (N4CD, W0GXQ, ....) what I should take on these out of the way trips. The list grows, but it sure helps when you have a rushed trip. It's a lifesaver for this one...like dog? What dog? She can't go! Get a dog sitter or set up a visit somewhere. It's on the checklist. You want a copy? I'll be happy to provide one. Oooh yea, microphone, Guff. It's somewhere in the truck (and on the checklist). Probably a little dusty, but it should work. Heck, it's brand new. The last time I saw it, the plastic bag was still around it. I know many CH'ers do not want to try this on CW. It's a go!

OK, planning wise, we're there. Now, what? I figure we need at least two nights on each county island. With two daily operating windows to the mainland (one morning and one evening), that would give us at least three and hopefully, four runs in each county. Let's see, two nights times four islands (must get to the island of Molokai – Maui and Kalawao counties are on it) equals 8 days, plus travel time equals about 10 days of moving, sightseeing and operating in 7 days of vacation. Surely, they will not miss me at work! Darn vacations are never long enough... How are we going from island to island? And which direction do we go first?

Enter Aloha Airlines....they have something called an "island pass". Buy the ticket, and it's good the day you buy it and for the next 6 days. You can fly four legs a day to wherever you wish between the islands. To CH'ers, we should call it the "county pass". You list yourself (make a reservation) for all your flights early so as to guarantee a seat (small planes/few seats). Then, pay for the entire pass, the first time you use it. Now, we have 7 days to hit all the other counties and get back to Honolulu for the return home. This island pass is also good for Island Air Airlines, Aloha's commuter. Island Air is the only airline presently going in and out of the island of Molokai.

What route to take? Well, Honolulu is basically in the middle of the islands. With only Kauai to the west, we will go there first after Honolulu and then to the Big Island (Hawaii county) which is the most eastern island and work our way back to Honolulu. Sounds good....but to get to Molokai we have to go from the Big Island, back to Honolulu and then to Molokai. That sort of kills day for operating/sightseeing, but it's the only way to get there.

OK, the routes are set – Phoenix, to and around the islands and back to Phoenix. Hotels and rental cars are next, and you all know how to do that. It's a personal choice. I used all internet sites or 800 numbers for these, and they worked fine. The only glitch I had was making the reservations in the same order we were planning to travel. That put Molokai at the end of the trip, and this was my only mistake. Molokai only has three hotels/ condos. I later found out about a few B&B's, but they are booked well in advance. There were no rooms available for the two nights I have planned to be there. If I arrive a day later, and it was fine. So, rather than going back and changing all those other reservations, I elected to spend one additional night on the Big Island, add one day to the 7 day island pass and get back to Honolulu a day later that originally planned. Lesson on reservations? Make the tough (Maui/Kalawao) arrangements first! The others are less restrictive.

A few comments on Kalawao and the challenges of travel/lodging are in order. One does not drive down to the old leper colony, Kalaupapa, the only real, so to speak, city in the county. There are basically three ways to get to Kalaupapa while on Molokai: mule train (a guided tour that attracts a lot of tourists starts at the county line with Maui county), airplane, or boat. One must enter Kalaupapa with pre-planned/confirmed accommodations if an over-night stay is in your agenda. Visit for the day and you will need to be in a sponsored tour. (Continued in March)

This is AA4 ... oops, I mean W4B mobile or , "What was I thinkin'?"

BACKGROUND: About a year ago I agreed to take part in putting on a special event station to help commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Wright Brothers first airplane flight on December 17, 1903. Members of the North Carolina Special Events Group (See ncseg.org.) based in my home QTH of Shelby, NC had obtained the call sign W4B and had arranged with the management of The Black Pelican restaurant in Kitty Hawk, NC to operate from their building. The significance of that particular location is that it was the site from which the telegraph message was sent announcing to the world that the first successful flight had taken place. Hence, people tend to associate Kitty Hawk with the event even though the actual flight took place at Kill Devil Hills, NC, but there was no operational telegraph office there.

Several members of our group arrived Thursday December 11th and began setting up. Two SSB stations and one CW station were assembled. Because of the time of year and anticipated weather conditions (cold temperatures and high winds), it was decided to keep the antennas simple. Dipoles, inverted vees, and a multiband vertical were erected. An anticipated operating period from 1700 UTC, 12/12 to 2000 UTC, 12/17 was posted. Operators were scheduled in shifts to keep at least one station on the air 24 hours a day during that time. The net result was that over 4000 QSOs were made despite extremely poor band conditions. As the only CW operator in the group I logged 1300 of those among 40, 30, and 20 meters. For more information regarding the actual Kitty Hawk operation please log on to The Carolina DX Association's homepage at www.cdxa.org.

THE RUN: As if all this wasn't enough, I felt it was necessary for "someone" to activate some of the rarer counties in the northeastern part of North Carolina. Not only that, I felt that this "someone" should make things more interesting by using the W4B call sign. "What was I thinkin'?" Monday morning 12/15 broke chilly but sunny. It seemed a perfect day for running some counties so "AA4Someone" headed north then west on Rt. 158 into Currituck County. After a quick CW QSO with WD9EJK/m on 14.0565, I got Jim's attention and K2JG announced me at 1442 UTC on 14.336. That's when I discovered I was (I were?) a team! Apparently some folks wanted to work both calls. So the rest of the day was spent trying to decide who I really was. The best one was when somebody said, "… and your buddy is 5-9 …" I think I responded at some point that my "buddy" snores too much at night!

Well, 9 counties, 300 miles, and 453 QSOs later I found myself back in Dare County at The Black Pelican eating the best prime rib I've ever had. At this point I have to say that the stations on the net exhibited superior operating techniques. My log shows I was consistently able to work stations at a rate of five per minute. This extrapolates to around 300 per hour; a rate which would make any big time contester proud. Net users seem to possess an uncanny sense of timing as to how and when to drop in their calls. It sure makes things easy on my end. Sorry I didn't do more CW work, but I was doing that on the fly for the most part on unfamiliar roads. Counting the trip out and back, I have now put out 55 of the 100 NC counties. My objective is to do them all by the end of next summer.

QSLs: W4B cards are in the design stage at this time, but should start being received by the latter part of January. I am holding QSLs for those of you who are requesting confirmation of both W4B and AA4S call signs until the new cards are ready. I hope this will be worth your wait and doesn't cause too much inconvenience. Requests for confirmation of only the AA4S call will be answered immediately, as usual.

Thanks to Jim and the others who ran and relayed for me (Chuck, Terry, Hollis, Carol, et. al.) during my trip both going and coming back. I had a great time doing it and hope I fulfilled some needs along the way.

Very 73, Ron Bailey AA4S/m & W4B/m
